MARY E. FOSTER.

Arrives Seventeen Days From

Lysan Island and Short of Rations.

Needless Anxiety Allayed—

Record of the Cruise.

The Hawaiian schooner Mary E. Foster, Captain Berry, arrived yesterday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock, seventeen days from Lysan Island. The arrival of the schooner allayed the fears and anxiety harbored by many for the welfare of the island's people. Captain Berry says there was no foundation whatever for the uneasiness felt, as they might have been at the island a month further and still turned in right side up. The steamer Waialeale was chartered and was on the Marine Railway preparing to go in quest of the schooner. The captain reports that delay was caused by loading of the bark Elizabeth Nicholson, which awaited them at that port to load with guano. The bark had 800 tons of guano in her hold when the Mary E. Foster left. After leaving, at twelve days out the schooner had only got 250 miles from the island, so the roughness of the weather can well be judged. The captain expected to come down inside of twelve days, and had on board, besides a few other articles of diet, one case of hardtack and eighty Lysan Island birds, which he considered sufficient to last the voyage.

A box of hardtack was left at the island for those living there. Being over the limit of twelve days in which the captain calculated to get here, the crew had to go on short rations. The birds were eaten and there was nothing on board eatable and perishable that was not consumed. The people in Governor Freeth's domains were short of provisions but no uneasiness is felt, as they have an abundant supply in the way of fresh fish and game, as the island abounds in such. The schooner in loading the bark with guano had to go out to sea four or five times, and the bark had to do the same just as often. Captain Berry expects to get away again to-day with the Mary E. Foster for Lysan Island with provisions for the island's people.

Mr. Freeth's three little boys were passengers from the island. The crew on arriving purchased canned fruit at the nearest store and this morning some of them were seen by the BULLETIN reporter "hard at it."

THE SAN JOSE CLUB COMING.

The board of directors of the Baseball League met yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce room, having under consideration the coming of the San Jose baseball club to this city. They decided sufficient guarantee had been raised and will forward a letter by the S. S. Australia to the manager of the club requesting them to come. They calculate and will expect the team by the return of the Australia, on Nov. 28th. The only hitch in the matter is that the San Jose club have promised to play the Portland ball club a series of games should they win the championship. If they fail to top the ladder, they will be expected at the aforesaid time.

WOODEN WEDDING.

Fifth Anniversary of the Marriage of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Irwin.

Brilliant Entertainment of Their

Friends at the Couple's

Kapiolani Park

Residence.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Irwin royally entertained a large assembly at their seaside residence, Kapiolani Park, yesterday evening in celebration of their wooden wedding. The spacious grounds were gorgeously illuminated with hundreds of colored lanterns, giving a glorious welcome to the hundreds of arriving guests, as carriage after carriage rolled up the driveway. A wealth of flowers and foliage decorated the beautiful interior of the mansion, vines spangled with roses, daisies, cypripediums, etc., being twined on the staircase and effectively festooned throughout the apartments, while pots of tropical plants, and bouquets, screens, and other floral compositions met the sight wherever best. Volcano pictures by Tavernier, with many other works of art, were allowed to remain unhidden on the walls, and the graceful architectural finishings of the rooms were not sacrificed for the temporary decorations.

In the hall were placed a large number of presents received on the occasion by the popular couple. They comprised not only wooden articles, but many rich objects of art and bric-a-brac in other material. There was a beautiful table of inlaid work in Hawaiian woods, from the employees of Messrs. W. G. Irwin & Co., lovely Japanese cabinets of inlaid work were presented respectively by Mr. and Mrs. Spalding and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hopper, that from the latter couple attracting general admiration, it being in the shape of a house. The most prominent gift was a bust in terra cotta of Helene, their little daughter, a surprise to Mr. Irwin that morning from his wife. It was the work of Mr. Allen Hutchinson, sculptor, and is regarded by those familiar with his productions as one of his best efforts. It is very hard to give satisfaction in the portrait sculpture of children, but Mrs. Irwin had both her art judgment—well-known to be of a high order—and her maternal feelings fully satisfied by this work of the artist. The bust was set on a highly polished pedestal of konu and koa, topped with a lovely Indian mosaic.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin received the guests standing just inside the great permanent lanai with Miss Spalding, Mr. Irwin's niece, beside them. There was a constant stream of ladies and gentlemen, who, after presenting their congratulations, distributed themselves in merry chatting groups throughout the large apartment. The reception lasted until about 8:30 o'clock, the Royal Hawaiian Band playing one of its choicest programs outside. Then dancing began in the lanai, Prof. Berger and his boys substituting orchestral for martial instruments of music. An inspiring scene ensued when the first dance was called. The ballroom is about forty feet square. Imagine this large area thronged with gaily dressed ladies and their partners in evening dress, all whirling in the giddy mazes of the waltz! Besides the decorations previously referred to along the walls, the Hawaiian and American flags were draped over the doorways. A vaulted ceiling gives the room a stately appearance. At one corner there is an entrance direct into the large conservatory, and looking diagonally across the apartment a rare vista of ferns and flowers rewards the gaze.

Choice liquid refreshments to suit all tastes were on service all the evening. Supper was called at 11:30. It was a rare banquet, such as the best to be had in first-class metropolitan hotels. Mr. James, chief steward of the steamship Australia, was the caterer, and he covered himself with distinction. It was truly marvelous that, in the short time at his disposal—only forty-eight hours—he should have got up such a spread. The middle table running up and down a temporary dining room in rear of the lanai was loaded down with rich and rare edibles—roast turkey, whole young pig, roast chicken, all sorts of salads, many kinds of fish in many styles of cookery, cold sliced meats, garnished with jellies and all sorts of nameless sauces, and there was a side table thickly heaped with sandwiches, salads, and various other substantial. Wine, lemonades, and other beverages flowed like water. The whole was topped off with varied ice creams, sherbets, etc.

It would be impossible to tell just who all were present, but the invitation list is given below, and there were comparatively few invited who did not come. As the second part of the dancing program came to a close, the last of the guests departed, and it is safe to say, none but wished Mr. and Mrs. Irwin a happy arrival of all the jeweled anniversaries of their marriage. While the dancing was going on in the main building, it may be stated, games of whist and billiards were running lively in the well-appointed recreation house on the grounds. The following is the invitation list for the wooden wedding:

"August Flower"

What is It For?

This is the query perpetually on your little boy's lips. And he is no worse than the bigger, older, bolder-headed boys. Life is an interrogation point. "What is it for?" we continually cry from the cradle to the grave. So with this little introductory sermon we turn and ask: "What is AUGUST FLOWER for?" As easily answered as asked: It is for Dyspepsia. It is a special remedy for the Stomach and Liver. Nothing more than this; but this trifling we believe August Flower cures Dyspepsia. We know it will. We have reasons for knowing it. Twenty years ago it started in a small country town. To-day it has an honored place in every city and country store, possesses one of the largest manufacturing plants in the country and sells everywhere. Why is this? The reason is as simple as a child's thought. It is honest, does one thing, and does it right along—it cures Dyspepsia.

DO YOU DRINK ?

Unfiltered water. If you do you'll be going around saying

"I do remember an Apothecary And hereabout he dwells"

Just as this old patriarch on the left. If you wish to avoid it use a Gate City Stone Filter. It prevents diseases caused by impure water, and gives you clear sparkling water to drink. Rainy weather brings muddy water. Muddy water contains the germs of many diseases. If it is taken into the stomach the germs go with it and there you are. Better avoid it.

How do beans go with filtered water? Ours is the only place in Honolulu where you can get a genuine Yankee Bean Pot such as they use in Boston.
